

Tycho Scopia Market Neutral Equity Fund

Objective

The Tycho Scopia Market Neutral Equity Fund seeks to deliver long-term capital appreciation in all market environments. The fund employs a market-neutral, equity long short strategy, with a primary focus on US mid-cap companies. The investment process is a fundamentals-based, value-driven approach resulting in a best ideas portfolio of idiosyncratic investments, typically 20-35 core longs and 25-45 core shorts, with the beta adjusted net market exposure typically +/- 5%. Scopia Capital Management LP was founded by Jeremy Mindich and Matt Sirovich 2001 and is based in New York.

Commentary

The Tycho Scopia Market Neutral Equity Fund was down 0.8% for the month of February, while the S&P 500 was down 0.8%, including dividends. Our long positions contributed 2.7% and our short positions detracted 3.5% for the month (net). On a rate of return basis, the longs were up 3.8%, outperforming the S&P 500 by 4.6%. The shorts were up 4.5%, outperforming the market by 5.3% to our detriment.

The largest contributor on the long side was a position in an industrials company generating an estimated net gain of 1.3% driven by strong fourth quarter orders.

The largest detractor on the long side was a position in a healthcare company generating an estimated net loss of 1.2% after the company reported weak first quarter earnings.

The largest contributor on the short side was a position in a consumer discretionary company, generating an estimated net gain of 0.4% after the company reported poor fourth quarter earnings amid continuing tariff and consumer demand concerns.

The largest detractor on the short side was a position in an energy company, generating an estimated net loss of 0.8% after the company reported strong earnings and increased its dividend.

On a sector basis, the fund's largest contributor was Industrials (1.4% estimated net gain). The fund's largest detractor was healthcare (1.0% estimated net loss).

On a delta-adjusted basis, the fund ended the month with a gross exposure of 152% and a net exposure of -6%. On a beta-adjusted basis, the fund ended the month with net exposure of 7%.

Looking ahead to 2026 and beyond, we believe our portfolio is well positioned. While the attention of the investment world continues to be focused on more speculative areas of the market, we remain committed to our disciplined, intrinsic-value centred approach. We continue to focus on what we can control: rigorous fundamental research, prudent risk management, and the identification of mispriced securities on both the long and short sides. Our process has delivered strong long-term results precisely because we resist the temptation to chase speculative excesses. While we cannot predict when market dynamics will shift in our favour, we are confident that maintaining our discipline will position us to capture meaningful alpha when they do

Important Information

Net performance for the month reflects actual fees paid for a Class F-USD representative 0.75% management fee/20% performance fee paying investor. Gross gain or loss, as applicable, of the position or sector that is the largest contributor to Fund performance is measured based on gross performance of the position or sector, as applicable, and does not reflect the deduction of fund-level fees and expenses. Net gain or loss, as applicable, of the position or sector that is the largest contributor to Fund performance is estimated.
